Oregon Household Activity Survey. AKA Oregon Travel Study

The Oregon Modeling Statewide Collaborative (OMSC) is a voluntary collaborative of state, regional and local agencies working together to ensure Oregon has the right data, tools, skills, and expertise needed to answer important questions about our transportation systems, land uses, and economy.

Approximately every ten years, following the completion of the U.S. Census, OMSC conducts the Oregon Household Activity Survey (OHAS) to collect the household travel data needed to develop Oregon's statewide and MPO travel demand models in accordance with Federal Highway Administration guidelines. The OHAS provides insights into and links between household characteristics and observed travel patterns, revealing details about travel behavior that is lacking in other data sources. These travel demand models assist ODOT and MPOs in long-range transportation planning and public policy development. During its April 2019 meeting, OMPOC unanimously voted to contribute funding towards Phases 1 and 2 of this effort using unused OMPOC carry-over funds. Becky Knudson and Kelly Clarke will provide a progress report and overview of upcoming implementation of this important statewide collective effort.
